

NOT TO COUNT IN STANDING

Yesterday's Burlington-Plattsburg Game Thrown Out.

WHICH BURLINGTON WON

Playing Independently Plattsburg Was Defeated by Burlington by Score of 5 to 0—Game to Be Thrown Out.

Burlington, August 31.—Plattsburg's last appearance on a Northern league diamond during the season of 1905 was yesterday afternoon at Athletic Park, when Burlington shut them out, 5 to 0. Rain interfered with the opening of the game, which was delayed until nearly 4 o'clock. A very small crowd was in attendance, but they saw a good, snappy game of ball, despite the poor condition of the grounds.

Plattsburg had only eight men with them and Ready, formerly a Northern league umpire, filled out the ninth position in left field. Simon is ill and his place at third was well played by McDonnell. Pitcher George was severely bumped at times, but McCrane pitched a winning game throughout.

The features were a home run over the right field fence by Loughlin, a pretty one handed catch by Ward, and a catch of a long fly to centre by Hayes.

Plattsburg disbanded after the game and Secretary Beatty will notify the other members of the league that the city from over the lake is no longer represented.

Will Not Be Counted.

President Jarvis said that the game would not count as the Plattsburg directors have disbanded the team. He instructed Secretary Beatty to write the Inter-city and Rutland associations to this effect and Mr. Beatty did so last evening, saying that no further games with players claiming to represent Plattsburg would be considered official and be counted for the pennant.

WHY PLATTSBURG QUIT.

The Press of That City Makes Some Strong Implications.

(Yesterday's Plattsburg Press).
League base ball is over for Plattsburg for this season, and we trust forever unless the management and auspices can be improved. This is the second year Plattsburg has been victimized and it will be wary about a third time.

There will be popular approval of the action of the directors last evening in disbanded the team. This move was hastened by the deep seated popular conviction that some of the players are crooked and have accepted Vermont money. We do not make the charge, being unable to prove it, we simply assert that such a feeling exists regarding one or two players on the team. After the team was disbanded, all the players who would consent to the arrangement decided to play the schedule out, transferring the Plattsburg games in Vermont.

It has been a sorry experience for us. We were guaranteed winning ball. We paid the price asked and then doubled it, and still the goods were not forthcoming. We had no competitor for the last place. Mr. Cosgrave failed to live up to his contract. It was a case of personal management, with favorites played to the detriment of the team.

Some of the boys made good and would be welcome back, others, "never would be missed."

If the present feeling determined, Plattsburg would not have expensive ball another year. But time works wonders. In any event, Plattsburg will think twice before going into a league with Burlington.

SADIE MAC WINS.

Takes the Historic "Roger Williams" Stake at Narragansett.

Narragansett Park, R. I., Aug. 31.—With the Roger Williams $5,000 stake for 2:12 trotters down on the card as the feature event for the afternoon, the third day of the Grand Circuit meeting here brought out a crowd which numbered fully 10,000. Sadie Mac won in three straight heats, the time being 2:07 1/4, 2:10 1/4, 2:10.

On account of a heavy rain which set in after the third heat of the Roger Williams, the remainder of the races were postponed until today.

MINER'S LUCKY STRIKE.

Two Years Ago Jagers Didn't Get Three Meals a Day.

For thirty-three years plain Tom Jagers led the migratory life of an unknown prospector. Less than two years ago Jagers was compelled to procure credit for provisions. Over $600 is his income every month now, yet he is the same old Tom. This amount represents the present monthly receipt from his mines, still growing, and a conservative estimate of his total wealth approximates the quarter-million mark.

Tom came to Los Angeles recently because three physicians recommended a lower altitude than Roosevelt, Nev.

"Do I consider thirteen claims unlucky?" repeated Jagers after the Times man. "Well, just as long as the pay dirt continues to roll out as it does now I have no objection. I'm not superstitious when it comes to making money."

"You say I look 70. Well, I'm 63, but thirty-five years of prospecting is likely to make any man look older than he really is. I've struck it rich, now, and hope to keep these few remaining black hairs their present color just as long as possible."

"There's no 'Scotty' secret about my mines. Every one of the claims is on record, and every man can find out in short order that Tom Jagers is on the square. I hunted high and low over New Mexico, California, Arizona and Nevada and several other states before I found a bit of dirt that was worth operating. For fifteen years I wandered over hills in the vicinity of the present townsite of Roosevelt and Goldfield without result. A few months ago I staked out thirteen claims that showed good on the surface, and when I began selling less than a sackful of samples of ore for a grub stake and netted $1,000 or more I realized that my search was done. It came easy then. I had three squares a day. Now I have more than enough to satisfy my desires for the balance of my life. I'm not trying to buy any 'speed,' but I tell you it does seem good to know where a good meal is coming from and to have a good place to sleep every night."

Jagers' claims are located in the Tule canon, Nevada, about thirty miles south of Goldfield. The old man was the first settler in the present townsite of Roosevelt, and since his lucky strike the country has been flooded with prospectors. Five years ago the man who now counts his wealth well up in the hundred of thousands was a struggling prospector in the vicinity of Roosevelt and covered the ground quite thoroughly as he presumed at the time. Becoming discouraged with his inability to make any paying discoveries, Jagers journeyed to Kern county, California, and for several years tried his hand in the locality. Lured back to the Nevada country by tales of great riches which had been discovered there, Jagers returned and relocated his former claims, which he has since found to be productive of limitless wealth.

Mining experts hurried to the old man's camp and after a careful examination of the property satisfied themselves of the riches which had been reported, and three companies have since been organized for development purposes.

Jagers holds interests in them all, and each month receives several hundred dollars more than is actually required to defray his meagre expenses. With the balance he engages in philanthropic work, and many a fellow prospector on the days when the man now worth nearly more than $250,000 was looking for a grubstake has been substantially remembered.—Los Angeles Times.

The Way It Goes.

"I've often wondered," said a physician who was taking a friend into town in his electric runabout the other morning, "if dress has anything to do with digestion. See that aggregation?" and he nodded in the direction of half a dozen ragged, bare-legged, bare-footed boys, the oldest 7 and the youngest 3, who were trailing along Indian file, some in the gutter and some hugging a wall.

"Their clothes are mostly pockets, and every pocket is bulging with green apples and greener pears," continued the man of medicine. "They'll eat that entire supply before noon and more this afternoon, and some overripe fruit thrown in for good measure, and not one of them will have a gripe of pain. At least, they'll have no pain you'll hear about."

"But if you were to put shoes and stockings and velvet jackets on them and let their hair grow and curl it over broad white collars and wash their hands and faces and they so much as bit into the provender they're carrying it would take all the doctors in Providence to save them."—Providence Journal.

FIALA TALKS OF HIS POLAR TRIP.

Says Result Will Be a New Map of Arctic Region—Has No Plans for the Future.

New York, August 31.—Anthony Fiala, commander of the Ziegler polar expedition, arrived in New York yesterday on the steamer Oceanic from Liverpool.

The expedition under Fiala, consisting of two ships, left Norway in June, 1903, and was rescued by the Terra Nova, under command of W. S. Cramp, whose ship arrived at Honningsvaag, Norway, on August 10 last.

"I must confess that my attempt to reach the pole has been another mark in the long list of failures," Fiala said. "I have made three attempts, and each has been unsuccessful. I brought back a vast amount of scientific data. We surveyed the Archipelago from Crown Prince Joseph Land to Cape Flora. The result will be a new map of the Arctic region."

When asked if he intended to make another trip to the pole, Mr. Fiala said that he had no plans for the future. He said it would all depend upon what young Mr. Ziegler decided to do in regard to carrying on the work started by his father.

TO TEST EYES AND EARS.

Vermont School Teachers Will Examine Pupils.

Burlington, August 31.—A new experiment is about to be tried in the public schools of the state, which will be watched with interest—that of testing the sight and hearing of every pupil for defective vision and ear troubles. The state superintendent of education and the state board of health held a joint session in this city a few days ago and agreed upon a series of cards for testing, blanks, record books, etc., which will be printed at once and sent out to every teacher in Vermont as soon as the opening of the fall term. According to the new law passed at the last session of the legislature, the superintendent or teachers must test the sight and hearing of all pupils under his charge during the month of September of each year, notifying the parents of the children of any disease found or suspected.

WAS HURT INTERNALLY.

Jay, N. Y. Man Died in Burlington Where He Was Taken for Treatment.

Burlington, Aug. 31.—George Dugan of Jay, N. Y., aged 38 years, died in city Tuesday from the effects of injuries received in a shocking accident while in the employ of a pulp mill at his home town. The remains were taken to Jay, N. Y., yesterday by J. A. Corbin, where the funeral will be held and buried.

The accident happened about two months ago. Mr. Dugan was engaged in inspecting a long sluiceway for carrying logs from the mountains down a steep incline to the Assabetz river where is located the pulp mill. A break in the structure had just been repaired and the other men engaged in the work had gone from the scene. Suddenly as Dugan was inspecting a slight breach in the trough he was struck with great force by a torrent of water and logs which had been released from above. Crushed, bleeding and half senseless he was swept along by the avalanche of wood and water fully a mile. With great effort he finally succeeded in grasping the side of the incline and fell over the side where he lay for some time exhausted and badly injured before he was discovered.

He was taken to his home and later to this city for treatment and for a time it was thought he would recover. Internal injuries, however, were too serious for him to overcome and death came.

FINE CITY AGENT.

Portland Liquor Agency Case Goes to Higher Court.

Portland, Me., Aug. 31.—The cases resulting from the seizure by Sheriff William M. Penning of the $5,000 stock of liquors from the city liquor agency, three weeks ago, and the arrest of the agent, Charles C. Douglass, were considered in the municipal court yesterday. Mr. Douglass pleaded not guilty, on the search and seizure charge, and waived a hearing. He was adjudged guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs. He appealed to the superior court, which convenes next Tuesday. On the nuisance complaint a similar plea was entered and examination waived. Probable cause was found and he was held in $500 bail for the superior court.

The entire stock of liquors was ordered destroyed in accordance with the Maine law. City Solicitor Scott Wilson, for the city, entered an appeal against such action, and the case will be heard in the superior court. Meantime the liquor agency is closed.

The day after we were married I sold a house and lot in Bellevue and turned the money, $1,800, over to him to open an office. That night he took me to his home in Cincinnati. The next day he bought theatre tickets for myself and sister, and when we returned from the show he was gone. An expressman told us he had ordered his things shipped to New York."

ANY FOOL

Knows enough to carry an umbrella when it rains, but the wise one is he who carries one when it is only cloudy.

Any man who sends for a doctor when he gets bed-fast, but the wiser one is he who adopts proper precautionary, preventive and curative measures when first appear the signs which, if unchecked and uncorrected, grow into serious illness.

Impaired digestion and nutrition are generally the forerunners of a nervous or functional breakdown.

Nature has provided remedies most abundantly for all such conditions in our native medicinal plants. With the use of chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength and at a proper sustained temperature, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root, medicinal principles which, when combined in the justly famed "Golden Medical Discovery," it restores the tone of the stomach, the activity of the liver and the steadiness of the nerves, pouring vitality into the blood till the once sick and debilitated one is so renewed in health, strength and power that he can resume his work, whatever it is, with vigor and elasticity.

All medical authorities, of whatever school, agree that Hydrastis, or Golden Seal—one of the essential roots in the make-up of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—is of very great value as a pure tonic, and as an alternative valuable in chronic affections of the stomach, intestines and bladder.

Not only the Original but the best Little Liver Pills, first put out over 40 years ago, by old Dr. R. V. Pierce, are still as good as much imitated but never equaled, as thousands attest. They're purely vegetable, being made up of concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from the roots of American plants. Do not gripe. One or two for stomach corrective, three or four for cathartic.

WARNED BY A DREAM ROBBERS WERE COMING

Brockton Woman Took $200 from Her Desk, Which Was Later Visited by Burglars.

Brockton, Mass., August 31.—Prompted by a dream, Mrs. Herbert O. French of 158 Menlo street secreted a roll of $200 and saved it from burglars who later broke into the house and rifled it. A few nights ago Mrs. French awoke from a vivid dream, in which she thought burglars had entered the house and secured a roll of money that was in a desk down stairs. She arose, went down stairs and secured the roll, which contained over $200, and taking it up stairs, placed it beneath her pillow. In the morning it was discovered that burglars had gone through the lower rooms. They took a bicycle belonging to Mr. French and several other articles, and had rifled the desk from which Mrs. French had rescued the roll of money.

CHARGED WITH STEALING.

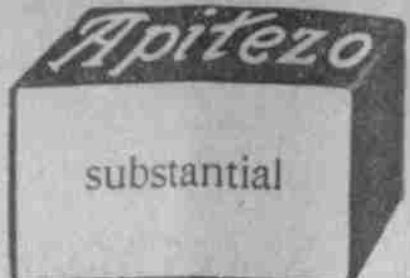

Burlington Grocery Clerk Said to Have Taken Tea.

Burlington, Aug. 31.—Louis Shelley was arraigned in city court yesterday on the charge of stealing two chests of tea of E. J. Thomas valued at about $30. He got through working at the Thomas grocery company and went over to Plattsburg about the middle of July, and he has been back and forth between the two places since then. It is alleged that he sold the tea stolen, doing it up in small packages and peddling it from house to house."
